The Requirements

In order to participate the prescribed safety equipment, such as helmet, obligatory FIA homologated clothing and a fire extinguisher in the vehicle are sufficient. For the Rechberg race you have to fill in the official entry form (see "Entry form Rechbergrennen") and if you do not have your ASN's automobile racing licence for 2010 you will have to send the day licence application (see "Daily racing license OSK 2010") or the annual licence application (see "Annual racing license OSK 2010") to Dominik Olbert (see contact details). For the third and final step we require your written application for the individual races or the entire season (see "Entry form KTM X-BOW HILL CLIMB TROPHY"). This application also calls for an one-off registration-fee of 150,- Euro, incl. VAT for the „KTM X-BOW HILL CLIMB TROPHY“. If you do not possess a vehicle log book, please tick the respective box on the application form and you will receive the vehicle log book on location. You can take the detailed information regarding the requirements from the document "Requirements KTM X-BOW HILL CLIMB TROPHY". We will contact you on receipt of your application form and will then send you further information.

Start of the Season – Rechberg Race 24./25. April

The hill climb on the Rechberg enjoys a cult status: Hill climbs have been taking place on the idyllic and nearly five kilometre long track from the little village Tulwitz up to the Rechberg since 1972 – and the event's excellent international reputation has been in evidence nearly as long.

This year again the 38th International Hill Climb 2010, the „Große Bergpreis von Österreich“ will be the start to the Hill European Championship – and just like every year all international stars among the approximately 200 participants will meet up in the starting field. Obviously such an event attracts lots of fans from Styria: in 2009 no less than 35.000 spectators formed an impressive background.
